

Social Justice Research Network

College of Arts and Sciences
The University of Notre Dame Australia

The Social Justice Research Network (SJRN) aims to bring together researchers from across the University to connect and work collaboratively in areas that relate to social justice, thus supporting Catholic ideals that focus on the dignity of the human person.

While the aims and form of the Network will develop over time, it broadly aims address any of the following areas.

The SJRN aims to conduct traditional and non-traditional (NTRO) high quality multi/interdisciplinary research:

1. in the field of Catholic social justice/teaching;
2. that is collaborative and engages with communities and/or industry;
3. that reveals, interrogates and/or seeks solutions for issues related to contemporary social, cultural, political and economic inequalities and human rights;
4. that analyses public policy and political participation through a social justice lens;
5. that studies the past in relation to issues of social, cultural, political and economic inequalities and human rights.

Please complete this form to express your interest in becoming a member of the Social Justice Research Network. Note that once membership is confirmed, information from this application, such as key research areas and research descriptions, may be used on the Networks's web page.

---

Name:

School/Institute:

Campus:

Staff - Role/position:

Student – Program

Email contact:

Phone contact (optional):

Link to School or Institute profile:

(or CV attached) :

Primary FoR codes (up to 3):

Short bio data (up to 150 words):

Describe in up to 500 words how your research relates to the aims of the Social Justice Research Network. Include any key relevant publications or projects (please note that this information may be used on the website):