

Global Professional Development for WIL practitioners

Three modules being offered early in 2019

Would you like to undertake professional development in WIL?
Do you have staff looking for professional development?

Whether new to WIL or an experienced WIL practitioner, these modules provide the opportunity to collaborate with international colleagues.

Three modules:

- Global Perspectives in Work-Integrated Learning
Provides practitioners the opportunity to enhance their understanding of the relationship between WIL and learning theory; and how theory informs WIL from a global perspective.
- Industry/Community Engagement for WIL
Provides practitioners with the opportunity to further their understanding of the fundamental importance of industry/community engagement for WIL and to improve strategies to enhance this engagement.
- Dimensions of Quality for WIL – *new module for 2019
Provides practitioners with the opportunity to explore the concept of quality in a WIL context from the perspective of all stakeholders and to reflect on practice and identify improvements to the quality of WIL programs.

Modules are presented in English through online study – approx 20 hours preparation & participation from 18 March 2019 (with a break for Easter) concluding early May. Module descriptors and timetables are available on the website.

Indicate your preferred module by 18th February, 2019. Participants may participate in only one module at a time. Places may be limited.

On completion of the module, participants receive a Certificate of Completion.

Charge to cover administration and set-up of modules: AU$100 for members of the four national associations named below; $175 for other participants.
